

SÖDERENERGI'S SUPPLIER CODE OF CONDUCT

Söderenergi strives to achieve good business ethics, long-term and trusting relationships and purchasing in accordance with the principle of public access. We expect you as a supplier to respect the code of conduct and that you assume responsibility for achieving the requirements within your organisation and in your supply chain. This should be carried out through collaboration, commitment, honesty, openness and respect between Söderenergi and the supplier. As a supplier you shall have procedures in place that aim to ensure that the goods or services you supply are manufactured under conditions that are in accordance with the requirements below.

Goods and services supplied to Söderenergi must be produced under conditions that are consistent with the ILO's eight core conventions, the UN's General Declaration on Human Rights, the UN's Convention on the Rights of the Child, the UN's Declaration against Corruption, the UN's Global Compact, the UN's Agenda 2030 as well as national laws concerning labour protection, labour rights and environmental protection in the country of production.
